This April, celebrate National Poetry Month! Pick up your first or book of poetry, head out to your first poetry reading, or write your first poem. The League of Canadian Poets is celebrating the month with the theme of "time" – whether that's looking back, looking forward, or looking at your own poetic and writerly journeys. Use #NPM17 to share or find your favourite poems, poets, and lines, and ring in the spring with poetry! Visit <http://poets.ca/npm> to find out more about how to celebrate and get involved.

The League of Canadian Poets invites you to celebrate National Poetry Month this April! Visit <http://poets.ca/npm> for ideas on how to get involved: host an event and submit it to a national events calendar; attend a poetry reading or performance in your city or town; challenge yourself to read or write a poem every day; share what poetry means to you. Connect with other poetry lovers using #NPM17 and #poeticmoment on Twitter and Facebook!
